

Q5 Why did you become an English teacher?

Answered: 28 Skipped: 0

#	Responses	Date
1	When I was kid, I have enjoyed playing English drama after school. So I want to share my pleasant experiences with kids who don't take dislike to learn English yet.	2/13/2015 11:07 AM
2	In order to make Japan more international country	2/11/2015 9:19 AM
3	I like western culture, so I am interested in its movies, music, fashion and so on. To understand and enjoy them, I had to study English, then I became good at English. I wanted to find a job in which I can use English, so I became an English teacher.	2/10/2015 6:05 PM
4	When I was a high school student, an English teacher made me interested in English.	2/9/2015 11:22 AM
5	Because my father used to be an English teacher, so I want to take over his job.	2/5/2015 7:13 AM
6	I studied English at a university and I wanted to make a good use of it. Also, English teachers at my high school seemed enjoying and worth trying. My parents are both teachers so they also recommended me to become one.	2/3/2015 1:43 PM
7	I like teaching and I'd like to tell students how learning English is interesting.	2/3/2015 9:47 AM
8	Honestly, subject to teach was not the first principle to me. I met a great HRT when I was in junior high and she stopped me killing myself by her keen eyes on students and active counseling. I just wanted to become like her and help others in need. So, my initial thought was to become a teacher, and then, I had to choose which school and subject I should teach. Eventually I chose English because in English, you are supposed to teach through communication, therefore I thought I could share many things with students even while I teach. "Bring life into class", "Teaching through real communication," if you remember my talk at SDC.	2/2/2015 12:02 PM
9	Because it was the only subject I could teach (I'm serious). I also liked communication in any forms.	1/26/2015 2:43 PM
10	Why? I think I had no choice but to be a teacher. Back in the late 1970s in my rural areas there are no other job opening but a teacher or a civil servant mainly because of economic slump. But now I'm proud of my job. Plus, you can work until you are 65 years old, if you like. I don't think my answer might not be satisfactory for you. But this is life and reality.	1/24/2015 9:23 AM
11	I am interested in comparing English language with Japanese language. I have found some differences very interesting while learning, so I thought I could help learners who were trying to learn English grammar without finding those differences.	1/22/2015 7:05 PM
12	I wanted to teach how wonderful to communicate with people who has different cultures.	1/22/2015 10:04 AM
13	Because I respected and was influenced by one of my English teachers.	1/21/2015 12:43 PM
14	I wanted to support the English education in Hirakata City, Osaka.	1/19/2015 9:24 AM
15	I wanted to help those who wanted to learn English.	1/18/2015 1:46 PM
16	I think because of my spirit of inquiry for teaching English.	1/12/2015 12:47 PM
17	I lived in the USA for two years when I was a child. Even as a 7-8 year old girl, I still remember the hospitality I received there. And since I have been using English in my working career as a TV director and a city worker, I decided to use my language skills and parenting skills as a mother of three as an English teacher.	1/12/2015 12:41 PM
18	I like English and improve my English skill and want to show students if they learn English their horizons will be broaden.	1/12/2015 11:58 AM
19	I've enjoyed learning English since I was a junior high school student, and it has broaden my world. I would like to help my students and let them know that learning English is so much fun and it will open the door to the world.	1/12/2015 11:52 AM
20	My favorite subject was English and I wanted to teach children.	1/12/2015 11:44 AM
21	First I like children, and I want to make today's students come to love learning English.	1/8/2015 3:31 PM

22	I wanted to be a teacher, and I was interested in English literature so I studied it at university.	1/8/2015 3:25 PM
23	Because I like English and I can get just the same income as a man.	1/8/2015 3:18 PM
24	English is great! English is like a window. Through it, we can learn many cultures. I want to spread it.	1/8/2015 3:12 PM
25	I grew up and lived in the States for 8 years and experiencing how great it is to be able to communicate with people from all over the world in English, I wanted to share this with the future generation of Japan so I decided to become an English teacher.	1/7/2015 5:51 PM
26	I want young learners to become familiar with a foreign language and to communicate with foreigners in English. Japan is an island country, so foreign countries and foreign languages are far from us. I want them to give many chances to know other countries and find out what they want to do or what they want to be.	1/6/2015 9:44 AM
27	I want children to know about many culture and the way of thinking.	12/24/2014 1:17 PM
28	Because I want many students to know how fun to learn a foreign language.	12/23/2014 8:30 PM